

OMGTech! model for change in Professional Development

Learn as you teach model:

Teachers have only limited time for study and need to have the learning integrated into actionable lessons they can use in their classes.

This model is built of the tech Industries best practice utilizing design thinking, agile, lean, and growth hacking. It allows for teachers to try and explore in class with new ideas before having mastery over all processes.